The Unhappy Czar---The Vermont Delegation for Edmunds--Commutation--Nominations, &c.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Times says: There is a sense of insecurity observable in every direction here, and while there is great fear that something will happen before the anniversary of the Emperor's accession to the throne, there is also a settled idea, which is destined probably to be disappointed, that the Czar will proclaim something new on that occasion. A most important fact connected with the latter expectation is that very important State documents are in course of publication in a printing office of the 4th section. Certain numbers of trustworthy men have been working at these papers for three weeks. The contents of these papers are kept secret, and in order that nothing shall leak out, the printers are kept in charge of an officer under lock and key. This proves that something unusual is being prepared, but as it was begun prior to the explosion in the Winter Palace, that event may have somewhat changed the good intentions of the Czar.

Russian Fortifications.

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—The North German Gazette, in a leading article commenting on the proposed erection by Russia of extensive fortifications at the frontier posts of Roam, Baileystok and Grodno, says: Russia's purpose probably is to impress her people with the belief that there is danger of an attack from Germand, and thus stir up popular excitement hostile to the latter power. If it be true that Russian designs against Germany, of which Gen. Milliontim, Russian Minister of War, is said to be the chief promoter, are only postponed until France is ready, and then these fortifications against peaceful neighbors may be regarded as preparations for future aggressive war. Neither France nor Russia has ever been attacked by Germany, and the colossal armaments of these two States which, by compulsion, must weigh upon the rest of Europe, can therefore only be based upon an aggressive policy.

Making Artificial Rain.

General Daniel Ruggles, of Virginia, at the request of the Senate committee on agriculture, appeared before them recently, and briefly explained his method of precipitating rainfalls by scientific means. His method, for which he has been granted a patent, is to send up to the cloud region cartridges of dynamite or similar explosive materials, in skeleton balloons, and to explode them either by means of time fuses, or by magnetic electricity through light metallic wires connecting the balloons with the earth. General Ruggles, as the result of many years' study and investigation of this subject, claims that the diffused mists passing over arid regions, or regions suffering from unusual drought, may be consolidated readily into rainfalls by concussion and vibrations, thus artificially produced; and he has, therefore, suggested to the committee that Congress may provide a small appropriation to make tests. The committee were so interested in General Ruggles' plan that they asked him to give them more information, which he is to do.

MIDNIGHT MISSILES.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE 46TH CONGRESS.

Senators Edwards and Garland Get on a High Horse and are Made to Ride It.

By Telegraph to the News.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 24.—Senator Withers presented joint resolution of the Virginia Legislature asking grant of land for educational purposes.

Senator Whyte asked unanimous consent to have the bill removing the disabilities of James M. Heiskell, former Confederate soldier of Baltimore, taken up.

Senator Edmunds asked why not try to pass in place of this bill the one introduced by Senator McDonald repealing altogether the law which imposes disabilities for service under the Confederacy, Section 1218, Revised Statutes.

Senator Bayard thought that independently of the question of entire repeal of statute, present case was one of manifest exigency for the reason that Heiskell was a mere boy, under age during his whole service under the Confederacy. He thought all the youth of the country who had taken unwise or unpatriotic steps should be encouraged to come back and help to make this what all wish it to be, a government resting in the hearts of the people.

Senator Edmunds spoke at length in opposition to the bill, saying in substance that the time is approaching when not only all the laws to support the war for the union and to protect the rights of the people preserved by the union but every bulwark of liberty under the law and secured by the law is to be swept away, leaving to what is called "State Sovereignty" lives, the fortunes and safety of the citizens of the United States; leaving to State Courts the power to declare that the supremacy of the State not under but against the constitution shall go so far as to give her courts and her laws jurisdiction in matters of National concern and in cases arising under the National Constitution.

The day for the accomplishment of this end, he said, has apparently been hastening, whether it is the day that will hasten peace, good order and fraternity is open to question. I don't think it is.

Senator Whyte, in explanation of the bill said Heiskell, who was born in Virginia, was the great grandson of President Monroe and that his father had rendered distinguished services to the United States in the capacity of Surgeon-General of the army.

Heiskell had since the war been a resident of Maryland, and had been faithful to every obligation required by the Constitution or law. He (Whyte) thought the bill should pass.

Senator Garland thought it time that section 1,218 was repealed and proposed to amend the bill by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting "that section 1,218 revised statutes be and the same is hereby repealed."

The amendment was agreed to, and the question then being on the third reading of the bill, it was determined in the affirmative—yeas 36, nays 23—a strict party vote, Democrats voting yea, Republicans nay.

A long discussion, in which Senators Edmunds, Logan and Taurman participated, then ensued upon the merits of the bill as amended.

Senator Edmunds said the effect of the repeal of the statute would be to restore to the army the very men who deserted it to make war against the flag they had sworn to support.

Senator Thurman urged that in the case of foreign war the government had the right to the services of men who were loyal in the Confederacy. I did suppose, he said, that long enough time had elapsed to quiet the fears of anybody (who is not harassed with nervousness, that, God forbid, should harass me) about the loyalty of the people of the South. As to the people of the North, he said, they want peace, they want fraternity once more, and they do not want to reject the services of any competent and now loyal men by inquiring whether he did or did not, at some time, bear a musket in the Confederate service.

Pending further discussion the morning hour expired, and the bill went over without action.

The Senate then resumed the discussion of the 5 per cent. bill.

Senators Pryor, Salisbury and Edmunds spoke against the bill, and Senators Logan and Plumb supported it.

The Vice-President laid before the Senate a message from the President, transmitting the preliminary report and draft of the bill submitted by the Public Lands Commission. Referred.

The question then recurred on the motion of Senator Edmunds to indefinitely postpone. Agreed to—yeas 28, nays 21.

Senator Edmunds moved to reconsider the vote, and another long and desultory discussion ensued, interrupted at intervals by motions to adjourn.

At 7 40, without further action the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Mr. Blount proceeded to explain bill of the amount appropriated for that service for present fiscal year was $5 900,000. Cost of present rates without any increase, would be $7,69),000. It was apparent that Second Assistant Postmaster General had made contracts in excess of appropriation and brought about large deficit.

That officer had announced that if he saw fit he could spend the whole appropriation in any one month.

The House then at 12:30 went into a committee on that bill.

The following memorials were presented by Mr. McLane, of Maryland, and appropriately referred.

The memorial of Mr. E Whitman, praying for the removal of tax on paper and repeal of the duty on printing type; a memorial of wholesale grocers, praying for a law to prevent the adulteration of food.

Mr. Beale, of Virginia, from the committee on Manufactures, reported a bill to prevent the adulteration of articles of food and drink. Printed and recommitted.

Mr. Bicknell, of Indiana, chairman of committee on the Presidential Election, reported a back joint resolution amending the constitution as to the election of President and Vice-President. Printed and recommitted.

Mr. Blackburn raised the point of order that Mr. Blount was quoting from the testimony taken by the Appropriations committee, and before report had been made on the question, the point was sustained.

Mr. Blount continued and pronounced the action of the Postoffice Department as audacious and unprecedented: that they had deliberately, and in violation of the law, made contracts amounting to $1;700,000, and then pretended to submit to Congress the question whether the service should be continued or not, when, to refuse to continue it, would be to destroy the Star service of that country. He trusted that, without reference to party but regarding a just administration of the laws of the House, would resort to such means as would drive such miserable saphis's out of place hereafter; money, however, must be given. It therefore became Congress to retain, in the present bill, its restrictions—tying the hands of the Department. He hoped the bill would pass in its present shape.

Mr. Blackburn, a member of the Appropriation committee, advocated the bill while criticising some of its details. Money, he said, should be appropriated. Nobody wanted to deprive the country of the mail service on these ten thousand Star routes. He also favored limiting the discretion of the Department and so preventing abuses. But he did not think the bill as framed would accomplish that.

Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, advocated the bill, and Haskell, of Kansas, opposed it.

Mr. Hawley, of Connecticut, severely criticised the action of the Department as an open, defiant and shmeless infraction of the statutes, which warranted an impeachment of its officers.

Messrs. Blackburn and Baker had the Clerk to read the amendments which they proposed to offer to the bill.

Mr. Bloodt, of Georgia, from the committee on Appropriations, reported the Black Star Service Deficiency bill, and it was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The committee then rose and the House adjourned.

CLOCKS AND WATCHES.

A History of Various Time-Keeper Which Have Been Used at Different Periods.

New York Herald.

The clock which at the present day is considered an almost indispensible article in every household in the land, and the watch, which is generally required to complete the warurobe of nearly every man and woman, compared to the history of the world, are but of recent origin or invention. The "ancients" used to mark the progress of time by the moving of the heavenly bodies, and for a more brief space by the shadow of the sun cast on a sun-dial, certain marks on the dial noting the length of time. The dial is used to-day, and the sun at its true meridian is found through this system at the present time. The North American Indians fixed their time and age, or any event, by so many moons, and so many winters, and leaves falling from the trees. Less time was so many suns or days in certain moons. By the way of computing time, an old Indian could tell how many days, months and years he had lived. In the absence of the sun, the ancients always used a clepsydra, a vessel containing water escaping through a small orifice in equal quantities at equal times. A floating body in a vessel which received the water, denoted the time by its rise to certain numbers on the side of the vessel. The Romans introduced this instrument in the days of Pompey, from Greece, seventy years before the Christian era. They employed it to denote the length of speeches in the Roman Senate. The sand or hour glass before the days of Carist.

This cheap and convenient instrument has been handed down to the present day, and is still employed for some purposes which require the frequent measurement of short time at a half minute, running out hor ologue, or three minutes to boil eggs. In the early times of Archimides, the great mathematician, 250 years before Christ, wheel-work was made to move by springs and weights to impel equal motion at equal times. From this motive power first sprung the clock for keeping time, which was used in Europe as early as the eleventh century, and the invention of which was due to the Saracens. A clock that would strike the hours was known as early as 1321. There was a clock in Dover Castle, England, in 1848. From the large public clocks sprung the small family clocks of all kinds and sizes. Clocks of different movements were constructed with quite as much ingenuity and intricacy 200 years ago as at the present time. It is stated that watches were made in Nuremberg as early as 1499, yet there is no accurate authority for the statement. There was a watch in Sir Ashton Lever's museum bearing the date of 1541. Henry VIII., who died in 1547, owned a watch. The hair spring was applied to the watch to regulate the time by Dr. Hook in 1658. Glass at one time was used for hair springs, but it soon grew out of use for reason of its breaking so easily by a jar, but they were acknowledged to keep a watch in more accurate time. From those days improvements have been constantly going on till the watch is nearly perfect as to time. For many years all the improvements were made in England and imported to this country, but machinery has been made to many parts of the work, and nearly all the watches made in this country at the present time are American movements. In 1876 the value of watch movements imported to this country was $3,823,000; in 1855 it was $2,591,000, the duty of which was $656,000.

Where Sarah Was.

Detroit Free Press.

A Wayne county farmer had some wheat stolen a few nights since, and he was so sure that he knew who the thief was that he came into Detroit and secured a warrant for a certain young man living near him. When the case came up for trial in Justice alley, the defendant said he could prove an alibi. In order to do this, he had brought in "his girl," a buxom lass of twenty-two. She took the stand and swore that he sat up with her from seven o'clock in the evening until broad daylight next morning.

"People can very easily be mistaken," observed the plaintiff's lawyer.

"I don't care—I know he was there," she replied.

"What did you talk about?"

"Love!" she promptly answered.

"What time did the old folks go to bed?"

"I give 'em the wink about 10."

"Sure he was there at midnight, are you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why are you sure?"

She blushed, looked over to her lover and laughed, and getting a nod to go ahead, she said:

"Well, sir, just as the clock struck 12 the old man jumped out of bed upstairs and hollered down: 'Sarah, yer mar wants some o' that catnip tea!' and we got such a start that we broke the back off the rocking chair, and went over backwards kerplunk."

"Then the jury must understand that you were seated on Samuel's knee?"

"I object," put in Samuel's lawyer, and His Honor remembered the day of his youth and sustained the objection.

INSTRUCTED FOR GRANT.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW YORK REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Speeches, Confusion and Cuss Words—Blaine Not Second Choice—That Naughty, Rebellious Head.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Shortly after 12 o'clock, General Arthur called the Convention to order, when, in calling the roll, Albany county was called, Senator Forster moved that the credentials of William H. Slingerland and his twelve associates, and the petition of Hamilton Harris and his twelve associates, be referred to the committee on Contested Seats, when he appointed N. M. Curtis, who seconded the motion.

Charles R. Spencer raised the point of order that no business could be done. The Convention not having been organized by the Chair; it was decided that the point was well taken. Forster appealed from the decision of the Chair and called for the yeas and nays. [Applause]. But Governor Haskins moved to lay the appeal on the table, and, on motion, was carried with only a few votes in the negative.

The Secretary then proceeded with the roll call. During roll call several disputes arose between the contesting delegations from various parts of the State, and there was much confusion and wrangling over the appointments to the committee on Credentials.

Stephen B. French, of New York, was nominated for temporary chairman; Hon. Charles E. Smith, of Albany, by nomination was received with applause, and it was made unanimous. During his remarks, on taking the chair, the allusion to Grant at Appomattox courthouse was received with great applause.

Mr. Forster said his district had selected unanimously two delegates. We believe, as chairman, he has said that we should have a presidential candidate, before whom the rebellion dare not raise its horrid head; we believe James G. Blaine is such a man. [Great and long continued applause].

H. R. Person, in replying to the remarks of Mr. Forster, said: We need not go out of New York to find a nominee [Long and continued applause]; we can find one in Ohio. [Applause]. But among all these peers among peers there is a name I hold above all others [Applause and mingled cries of Conkling and Blaine]—I mean that name which stands as the god of battle—Ulysses S. Grant. [Great applause] I believe it will be Grant; I believe that the imperial State of New York will go, and ought to go, to Chicago and express its imperial will as a unit. [Applause.]

After the transaction of a considerable routine of business the Convention took a recess until 3:30.

LATER.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 25—12 p. m.—The Convention has adopted resolutions favoring the nomination of Grant. The test vote showed that Grant's friends had 37 majority over the advocates of an untrammeled delegation.

The resolution favoring Blaine for second choice was laid on the table.

No 2 desires him to go to the one he loves best. He is bandied about from one to the other till he becomes quite enraged; but all he can do is to go upon the top of a tree and cry aloud; "I thought I had got five wives, but I find I have got five witches. If a women beats her husband she is punished in this way; Both are taken to the market place, and the wife is compelled to carry her husband home on her back, amid the cheers of the people. On these occasions the women generally cry out, "Give it to him again."

The Pocket Nerve.

Arkansas Gazette.

The rise in the price of white paper is hard upon the newspaper men, but it may eventually be of service to the people, in that it will direct attention to the iniquities of a high protective tariff. The most blatant of protectionists among the newspapers are demanding the repeal of the tariff upon the material that is used in the manufacture of paper. There is nothing like touching one's pockets to make him understand.

SMITH, C. J.:—

State vs John Jackson et al, from Wake.

Indictment conspiracy to impute to one Louisa Pierce infanticide and to cause her to be indicted and punished therefor.

The conduct of the trial must rest in the discretion of the presiding judge, and if at the close of the evidence any constituent of the offense charged is proved the verdict will not be disturbed.

All those who engage in a conspiracy, as well as those who participate after it is formed, as those with whom it originates, are equally guilty, and the acts and declarations of such in furtherance of the common illegal design are admissible against all.

"The conviction of Anthony, Cotton and Utley must stand. Jackson is entitled to a new trial."

A plea in abatement must not be made until a defendant is brought into court for trial.

A conspiracy to charge one with infanticide is but a misdemeanor at common law, for which the offender may be fined and imprisoned in the county prison. It was error in the judge sentencing defendants to the State's prison for different terms. Error.

Under sections 61 and 64, C. C. P., every person who has such an interest as may be affected by a proposed decree or a liability to exonerate the defendant or contribute with him to the plaintiff's demand must be made a party to the action. Reversed. Remanded.

State vs Daniel Hooks et al, from Anson.

When no bill of exceptions or statement of a case on appeal accompanies the record, and after an examination no error can be found therein, the rule is to confirm the judgment. Judgment affirmed.

C C Durham vs Peter E Speeke, from Cleaveland.

The plaintiff and defendant, on the 15th day of December, 1874, entered into a written contract, whereby the plaintiff leased a tract of land to the defendant for five years, at a rent of one-third of all the crops to be delivered to plaintiff, and other stipulations on the part of the defendant as to cultivation, &c.

At the end of 1877 the plaintiff, on the allegation of the non-payment of rent and non-performance of some of the other stipulations of the contract, brought his action in a justice's court and obtained an order for the seizure of the crops. In the Superior Court this order was, on motion, vacated, and it was adjudged that the sheriff retain and apply enough of the property seized to pay the rent due. Defendant appealed. The effect of the act of 1876-77, chapter 283, was not to affect the obligation of contracts, but to give a more certain and effective remedy to landlords. Whatever belongs merely to the remedy may be modified or altered at the pleasure of the Legislature, if the obligation of the contract is not thereby impaired nor any substanstial right affected, provided a sufficient remedy is left to the parties according to the justice as it existed at the time of the contract.

The exemption does not include so much of the crop made on rented land as is required to pay the rent.

ASHE, J.:—

State vs George W. Swepson, from Wake.

Motion made at August term of Wake Superior Court, after notice, to amend the record nunc pro tunc of the trial of the defendant at spring term, 1875, by making the record show that at the time when the trial of defendant was had, and a verdict of not guilty entered of record, the defendant was not present in court, and that the Solicitor did not waive his presence. Motion overruled. Appeal by the Solicitor.

The State cannot appeal except where judgment has been given upon a demurrer to an indictment, or upon a motion to quash.

In the State vs Lane, 78 North Carolina Reports, the court held that in these cases the State might appeal, but only in these cases; from what source the right is derived we are not informed.

It seems to have obtained rather from the long practice of the courts than from any authority from the common law or statutes. The right of the crown to appeal does not exist at common law; nor is it conferred upon the State by any statute

The State has no right of appeal in this case. The appeal is dismissed.

John C Witherow vs. A V Biggers aff, from Rutherfood. Action of ejectment.

The land claimed belonged to James Witherow, who, in 1865, conveyed an undivided half interest to his son, Jason, and in 1875 conveyed the remaining half interest to another son, Thomas. By a parol agreement a line was run across the land from east to west. Jason occupied the land on the south and Thomas the other part on the north. The plaintiff offered in evidence a deed to himself from Jason, dated 1871, for an undivided half interest in the land, and also, to estop the defendant, a deed to defendant, dated 1872, from said Jason for a similar interest in the land. Defendant has been in possession and offered in evidence a release and quitclaim deed from Thomas. Upon an intimation that plaintiff could not recover, he submitted to a non suit and appealed. One tenant in common cannot sue another unless there is an actual ouster. By actual ouster is not meant the expulsion from or keeping out of the possession by real force, but it may be inferred from circumstances, which circumstances may be matter of evidence to be left to a jury. In actions for the recovery of land in analogy to ejectment under the former system, where one tenant in common is sued by his co-tenant, if he does not dispute the title of the plaintiff, he should in his answer admit the title and deny the ouster, but if he only controverts the title, that must be taken as an admission of the ouster.

DETERMINED DEMOCRATS

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS HOLD A LOVE FEAST.

Butlerites Falling in Line---An Example for the New York Democrats to Follow.

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—A very important measure was begun last night in the Democratic party of Massachusetts. One year ago last autumn the party ship struck on the rock Ben Butler and split. The Butler wing headed by Col. Jonas H. French and comprising the rougher elements in the party was by far the largest, but not large enough to elect the General. This dissension continued during two State conventions, but last night a reconciliation was affected, the Butler wing proffering the olive branch. Whether the old war horses will accept General Butler as a leader remains to be seen, but it is evident that the reconciliation movement was suggested by General Butler himself. The meeting, which was held at the Parker House, was addressed by Judge Abbott, the Hon. Levi Woodbury, the Hon. P. A. Collins, Colonel Jonas H. French, the Hon. John K. Tarbon and Mayor McCafferty. It was a genuine love feast. One object of the scheme is to consolidate the party for the coming National contest.

Tilden and Kelly.

New York Truth.

Kelly has the courage of the bull dog; Tilden the sagacity of the fox. If there is one dream which Tilden cherishes next to that of the Presidency it is to accomplish the downfall of Kelly. And so they give each other battle at every turn, and waste their forces in the endeavor to win. It is greatly owing to this sort of civil war that the Democratic party to-day is a hungry, ragged rabble, who lose all that they might win by quarrelling among themselves every time the goal of their hopes is within sight. Such men as Kelly and Tilden are utterly destructive to any possible success for the Democratic party in the impending Presidential election. If Mr. Tilden should by any chance be nominated again—and it is exceedingly probable that he will—Mr Kelly has announced his positive determination to defeat him. It would not be a very difficult matter for Mr. Kelly to succeed in this, if he employs the same tactics that he did last year. Kelly could give the State of New York to the Republicans, and this would practically settle the election, for all concede that New York holds the balance of power.

Socialists in Convention.

Boston Herald.

The fifth annual convention of the New England Free Love league opened in Science Hall, 718 Washington street, Tuesday, and will continue for several days. Three sessions were held yesterday—one in the forenoon, one in the afternoon, and one in the evening. Mr. E. H. Heywood presided at each session, and addresses were made at the various meetings by Mr. Heywood, Mrs. Angela T. Heywood, Dr. J. H. Swain, of San Francisco, Mr. Sheaf, of Charlestown, and Miss Lillie Newman of Boston. The members of the Free Love league claim to be a limb of the Labor Reform and Socialistic parties. A bill protesting against further legislation to restrict the expression of opinion on social matters, and against interfering in the sale of sexual philosophic literature, was presented, adopted and largely signed during the day. This bill is to be presented to the General Court. Another bill, or petition, praying the Legislature to revise the postal laws, received many signatures. The audiences at the evening and afternoon sessions were very large, and the best of order prevailed. To-morrow Mr L. K. Joslin, of Providence, will preside. The convention continues through the week and next Sunday and Monday.

A Wonderful Clock.

The most astonished thing in the way of a timepiece is a clock described by a Hindoo rajah, as belonging to a native prince of Upper India, and jealously guarded as the rarest treasure of his luxurious palace. In front of the clock disk was a gong, swung upon poles, and near it was a pile artificial human limbs. The pile was made up of the full number of parts for twelve perfect bodies, but all lay heaped together in seeming confusion. Whenever the hands of the clock indicated the hour of one, out of the pile crawled just the number of parts needed to form the frame of one man, part joining itself to part with quick, metallic click; and, when completed, the figure sprang up, seized a mallet, and, while walking up to the gong, struck one blow that sent the sound peeling through every room and corridor of that stately castle. This done, he returned to the pile and fell to pieces again. When two o'clock came, two men arose and did likewise; and so through all the hours of the day, the number of figures being the same as the number of the hour, till, at noon and midnight, the entire heap sprang up, and, marching to the gong, struck, one after another, each his blow, making twelve in all, and then fell to pieces.

A Bride's Revenge.

Boston Herald.

A sensation of a rather unusual character took place not long since in the quiet and sedate village of Collegeville, the circumstances, as related to us, being as follows: A marriage was announced to take place in the above-named village, the wedding guests were invited, and every thing appeared to be lovely. At the hour appointed, the wedding party took their places, and the clergyman proceeded with the ceremony. He propounded the usual questions to the groom as to whether he would take this woman to be his wedded wife, to love, cherish and protect her, etc., to all of which the gentleman gave a prompt answer in the affirmative. The usual questions were asked of the lady, when to the surprise of all present, she replied with a decided and emphatic "No!" and, with head erect a most queenly air, strode from the room. The affair created a commotion among the wedding guests, who were at a loss to understand the cause for the lady's strange conduct. It afterward leaked out that her intended husband had been displaying his gallantry in another direction, which was not pleasing in the sight of the lady, and she determined not only that she would not marry him, but that she would punish him as well, and has succeeded.

DAILY NEWS

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY, 26, 188

610. C. JORDAN, Editor and Propr

THE sentiment throughout the State in regard to the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad, so far as we are able to ascertain, is unanimous in favor of Mr. Best's proposition.

SECRETARY SHERMAN seems to have started out as many special Treasury agents as the law allows to one Presidential candidate, and he is now appointing assistant special Treasury agents. It has been found out that each agent will need a number of assistants

IF Grant is beaten in the Chicago Convention, will it be Blaine who will carry off the nomination? No, not at all. Blaine is too timid in the fight; he halts and falters. Grant being put out of the way, his friend Washburne will probably be the man.

ONE Cincinnati paper which is for Sherman, gravely says that Grant could not carry Ohio, and another Cincinnati paper, also for Sherman, doesn't think that Blaine can carry Ohio. This is the handsome way in which the Ohio papers clear the field in behalf of an Ohio man.

THE bar'l is a very essential thing in the politics of these days, and the announcement that Senator Blaine has recently made two millions in mining stocks is a significant and important one. General Grant has no bar'l himself, but he knows a great many people who have, while Secretary Sherman, with decided skill, has filled two or three bar'ls with special Treasury agents.

SOMETHING is the matter with ex-Senator John Pool, of this State, and it looks as if all his efforts to reconcile himself to an office under this administration had turned out miserable failures. He has recently made the blood-curdling announcement that if the Democrats will nominate Hancock for President he would support him in preference to any man the Republicans could name for the position. Secretary Sherman might fix this man up with an appointment as Assistant Special Agent of the Treasury.

ASSISTANT Secretary Hawley, of the Treasury Department, has gone to Illinois in response, as the report says, to "a large number of letters from his friends throughout the State urging him to be present in order to confer with the Republican State committee respecting his chances for the nomination for Governor, as it is stated that the political situation and the programme within the State will be very carefully discussed." The civil service reform order says that no officer shall be permitted to take part in the management of political organizations, caucuses or election campaigns, but fortunately the Treasury Department is run by Sherman, and not by Hayes, and orders don't count there.

CHOOSING BETWEEN FREEDOM AND AN HEREDITARY MONARCHY.

The words of Thomas Jefferson on a third term of the Presidency cannot be too often repeated or too deeply impressed on the public mind.

"If some termination," he said, "to the services of the Chief Magistrate be not fixed by the Constitution, or supplied by practice, his office, nominally for yeas, will in fact become for life; and history shows how easily that degenerates into an inheritance."

Now a termination to the services of the Chief Magistrate has been provided in one of the two ways named by Mr. Jefferson: it has been supplied by practice.

What Grant and the third term men now propose to do is to alter that practice, to make the term practically for Grant's life; and then the next thing we have to expect is that it will become hereditary.

This is precisely what the illustrious author of the Declaration of Independence warned his countrymen against.

Shall his warning be heeded?

THE STAR MAIL SERVICE.

Cutting down the Star mail service seems to have had just the effect which it was in all probability designed to have. The House committee on Appriations has concluded that something will have to be done regarding the deficiency, and unless all the reports are wrong a deficiency bill will be perfected and sent to the House without much delay. This is in exact accordance with the convictions with which Assistant Postmaster General Brady claimed to be permeated at the time he was put under investigation. He had a charming reliance upon some Congressmen, who are about as much as any one interested in the extravagant and extraordinary increase in the Star service. It has largely been built up on the recommendation of Congressmen from the districts where that kind of service is essential, and there are obvious reasons this year in particular why those members cannot afford to have the service cut down to its original proportions just to save a couple of millions to the government. The service grew so enormously under the encouragement of Congressmen and the willingness of General Brady that it would have to be reduced to almost nothing for the remainder of the fiscal year if the deficiency appropriation were not granted. If Congress shall decide to help General Brady through with his extravagance this year, it is certainly to be hoped that something will be done to prevent any such thing happening again.

The Democratic Outlook.

Washington Star, 23d.

If the prominent democrats now gathered in this city from all parts of the country represent the feeling pervading that party with regard to the coming presidential election, then the republicans need not count upon meeting a disheartened foe in the coming contest. The lively degree of interest manifested in locating the convention is of itself an indication of a spirit of hopefulness, and the expressions of the various delegations now here, betoken positive confidence in the success of the party. These expressions of confidence are not mildly uttered, nor based upon a general sort of supposition that the party wust win, because "it ought to." On the contrary, the leading democrats now in this city seem to take a practical view of the political view of the political field, and they universally say their party can win if it "acts wisely." It is apparent, from the interest shown in locating the convention, and from the general discussions with regard to democratic prospects, that the republicans will not have a walk-over next fall. There is a spirit of determination in the democratic ranks to contest every inch of ground, and it can be safely predicted that the democrats will take advantage of every mistake their opponents make. The democrats all agree that Grant is the weakest candidate the republicans can nominate, but the judgment of one political party as to what is best for its opponents never has any weight with the latter, and really cannot be said to be entitled to any.

The Democrats believe they can derive considerable advantage from following in the wake of the Republicans in the naming of a ticket and framing of a platform, and it appears from the general tenor of conversation about Democratic headquarters at Willard's that the course adopted by the Republicans at Chicago will largely influence the Democrats in the adoption of a policy. If the Republicans shall nominate Grant then the Democrats will put a civilian of good record and make the canvass in opposition to the third-term principle and in favor of maintaining the "unwritten law of the constitution" and of adhering "to old land marks," etc. Should Blaine be nominated some of the leading Democrats express themselves in favor of putting General Hancock at the head of their ticket and of "fighting the bloody shirt with a Union soldier." Should Secretary Sherman get the nomination it is possible that the Democrats would take a candidate from the west and antagonize Sherman on his financial ideas. It is as plain as day, though, that the Democrats are full of courage and of hope, and Republican leaders who anticipate an easy victory delude themselves. There is another leading that crops out in all the Democratic talk about Willard's, and that is opposition to Tilden. There is an evident disposition among the Democrats to watch the field carefully, avoid blunders and take advantage of any weak points of the opposition. The lesson taught by the present gathering of the clans is that the coming canvass will be a warm one.

A son of the Emerald Isle, meeting a countryman whose face was not perfectly remembered, after saluting him most cordially, inquired his name. "Walsh," said the gentleman "Walsh—Walsh," responded Paddy; "are you from Dublin? I knew two old maids there of that name. Was either of them your mother?"

Charles S. Prentice, of Toledo, O., went to Paris and thence to England to be treated for Bright's disease, and after the best physicians of both countries had done what they could for him, gave up in despair and returned to America to die. Here he received further treatment from other skillful physicians without benefit, and while "listlessly lingering in pain and anguish," he says, heard of the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, took it, and was completely cured in a few weeks. He gives circumstantial details of his painful experience and astonishing cure, in a long letter to H. H. Warner & Co., which will be forwarded on application.

Cuticura

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS,

The Scourge of Mankind. Old Methods of Treatment and Remedies a Failure.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the Great Blood Purifier and Liver Stimulant, is the most searching, cleansing, and purifying agent of this country. It may be detected in the saliva, sweat, milk, blood, and urine in forty minutes after taking the first dose, showing that it has entered the circulation and been carried to every part of the system. It forever eradicates the virus of Syphilis, Scrofula, Cancer, and Canker, those terrible blood poisons that rot out the machinery of life, filling the body with foul corruptions. Taken internally in conjunction with the external application of CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, it speedily cures Scrofulous Ulcers and Old Sores, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Tetter, Ringworm Scald Head, Dandruff, and all Itching and Scaly Diseases of the Skin and Scalp.

ECZEMA ON THE SCALP.
BREAST AND LIMBS CURED.

Messrs WEEKS & POTTER: Gualemen—I cannot refrain from adding my debt of gratitude to you for having placed within my reach the wonderful CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have rendered unnecessary all further experiment of physicians, and in a remarkably short space of time have rid me of a loathsome disease. I dispensed with all physicians two years ago, believing they did me no good. The CUTICURA has stopped this unsatisfactory expense—even if it were necessary and I had the courage any longer to follow their advice—and brought the long-looked-for cure and happiness.

I have been afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum on my scalp, breast, and limbs for five years, during which time I have been under the treatment of physicians, or at mineral springs, or taking some kind of medicine. I have been treated by Drs —— of ——, Dr. —— of ——, and visited sulphur springs and taken numbers of patent medicines, all without the faintest approach to a cure.

April 1st last, I began the use of CUTICURA, which was immediately successful in my case, entirely curing me. I have not had a clean scalp for 15 years until the use of CUTICURA entirely healed it and left it clean and healthy. The other parts of my body were affected in a more aggravated form, but are now completely heal d. I believe myself completely cured. I shall continue the CUTICURA RESOLVENT as directed, for its wonderful action on the stomach and bowels and cooling influence on the blood. It will afford me pleasure, as I have done in many cases, to urge the afflicted to use these wonderful remedies.
Yours, etc.,
STEPHEN CROWELL.
NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 30, 1878.

A RUNNING SORE
CURED IN ONE WEEK.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER:—Some three or four weeks ago I ordered a box of CUTICURA for a bad case of Salt Rheum. The back of one of my wife's hands was a running sore. In one week from the day it arrived her hand was well and has remained so up to to-day. E. P. DAGGETT.
MILFORD, Me., June 10, 1878.
NOTE.—Reader, don't you think these cures remarkable?

CUTICURA SOAP,
MEDICINAL AND TOILET,

Is prepared from CUTICURA in a modified form, and is positively indispensable in the treatment of Skin and Scalp Diseases. We recommend it for the preservation of the skins of infants, for gentlemen who shave and are troubled with tender faces, for those who desire a clean and wholesome Skin and Scalp, and for all purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Its delightful and refreshing fragrance equals or surpasses the finest Parisian Soaps.

The CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by WEEKS & POTTER, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington street, Boston, and are for sale by all Druggists. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large box $1, RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 35 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

A Rare Chance for Investment.

Wishing to give my whole attention to the lumber trade, in which I am about to engage on a larger scale than ever before, I offer for sale on terms to suit the times the following valuable property in Cary:

I.

MY PLUG TOBACCO FACTORY, in a BRICK building 50x80 feet, 3 stories high, the lower story being two large storerooms. The Tobacco Machinery is new and has a capacity of manufacturing 1,000 lbs. per day. The factory has been worked a year, and a good beginning for a trade has been made. The building and the machinery will be sold together, or separately to suit purchasers.

II.

GRAIN MILLS,
in a 3 story brick building, 28x40 feet. Two Wheat Mills and one Corn Mill, new and complete with a capacity for grinding 100 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of corn a day, and can compete in quality of flour with any mills in the State. The mills have had a very large local patronage during the past year. They are driven by a 60 HORSE POWER STEAM ENGINE, improved, of the make of Talbott & Sons, Richmond.
Attached to the engine is also a 60 saw CORTON GIN and power press, at a safe distance (about 100 feet) in a different lot. The engine has a brick smoke-stack 60 feet high, making the danger from fire the least possible and the rate of insurance very low.

III.

Several well built and handsome residences, with lots and gardens of about 1 acre to each dwelling. They are wooden buildings, 2 stories high, with from 5 to 7 rooms each situated in desirable locations in the village.
Besides these, 4 one acre lots, with cottage buildings of 2 rooms.
TERMS: One-third Cash; balance on reasonable time.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

—Warmer.

—Rain ahead.

—Neck and neck.

—"Rescue" to the rescue.

—Revenue receipts, $7,412.27.

—The Visitor has donned a new hat.

—Regular monthly meeting of the Board of County Commissioners next Monday.

—Dust, more dust, most dust—we ever saw.

—There's a good deal of fun at a fire sometimes; especially when no serious conflagration occurs.

—Berry Brothers, Detroit, have secured a drummer's license. The work goes bravely on.

—Be sure and read the Congressional proceedings of yesterday on first page. Some rich things,

—People are growing more wicked, and the courts, from a justice's to the Supreme, are full of business.

—We have had about five courts on an average running every day for two or three weeks. The lawyers are happy—offenders blue.

—The grand jury was in session again yesterday. It seems to take this body a long time to get through with their business.

—The Newberne Democrat in consequence of the rise in paper has got its back up and grown fancy about the thing. Yesterday's paper was printed on "yellow tint."

—The "goosies" were on the rampage again about three o'clock this morning. They saved Rome, they say; may be so. They woke our pressman up this morning.

—We are pleased to learn that the condition of Mrs. Dr. Worth is greatly improved. She was exceedingly ill Wednesday and her many friends will rejoice to learn that she was decidedly better last night.

—Mr. John C. Blake has granted the colored ministers of the city the use of Metropolitan Hall, Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. All the colored Sunday schools will meet thereat three o'clock to listen to an address from the Rev. Mr. Brown.

—Mr. J. J. Bright, Twiggsville, Ga. has a letter to his address at the postoffice; but as the postal service doesn't use revenue stamps, said letter is not likely to reach Twiggsville soon.

—An account of "Gathering India rubber in Nicaragua," written by an officer in the U. S. Navy, and illustrated with four "striking" pictures, is promised for the March St. Nicholas.

—Members of the Legislature should apply to Mrs. S. H. Montgomery, Exchange Hotel, Raleigh, for comfortable quarters and good board at reasonable prices. See advertisement elsewhere.

—Col. J. J. Thomas yesterday purchased from Col. P. F. Faison the property situated between Rand & Barbee Bros. and Parker & Avera, on Wilmington street, for $3,000, and will erect a large three-story brick ware house fifty-three feet front and one hundred and twenty feet depth, with capacity for the storage of twenty-five hundred bales of cotton. It will be one of the largest cotton warehouses in the State.

—Mr. Wm. Woollcott will shortly improve his Wilmington street open front by the introduction of two immense glass show windows, which will occupy the whole of the front of his store. It will be the only glass front in the State, and one of the handsomest stores in the city. Mr. Woollcott is one of the most enterprising and successful of the Raleigh merchants

Still Another.

A. L. Elliott & Co., Richmond, took out a drummer's license yesterday.

Death.

Mrs. Beatie Buffalo, who lived in the suburbs of the city, died yesterday morning.

Syndicate Best Retires.

"I said I would and so I will, so help me gr—rac s!" Mr. Best left on the 3:20 train for New York yesterday. He seemed to be in good spirits, and, we suppose, will pay us another visit about March 15th. Au revoir!

The Burned Woman.

The colored girl so seriously burned Tuesday, is still alive, and hopes of her recovery are entertained. She suffers great agony, however, and is still in a very critical condition.

Mr. Best's Proposition.

It was our intention to publish this proposition in yesterday,s issue but owing to the press of more important matter, we have been Compilled to defer its publication until to-morrow when we will give it to our readers in full.

New Novels.

All the latest and best Novels, and all the most popular miscellaneous works of any kind can be supplied by Messrs Alfred Williams & Co., at publishers owest prices.

Took Him Up.

Mr. Ed. Englehard has accepted the challenge of Mr. John Creech to shoot at one hundred glass balls for the championship of Raleigh, and will try him on this afternoon.

Dime Party.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church will give a dime party at the Session House on Thursday night next, (to-day week.) The object is to raise funds to remodel and enlarge the present church edifice. These entertainments are of the highest character and visitors always enjoy themselves in the highest degree.

Police Court.

His Honor, Mayor Manly, disposed of a number of drunks yesterday at his morning levee. Each received a temperance lecture and twelve hours in the station house. Every man was allowed to select his own cell even.

Henry Boylan and Simon Baker, two dusky descendants of Ham, were also in the dock at the Mayor's Court yesterday, charged with larceny and receiving. The evidence warranted a return to the Superior Court. A one hundred dollar bond was demanded, but their gold mine stock had taken a recent decline and their monied friends being absent, spending the winter in Paris, they will occupy apartments in the hotel D'Nowell until they can get a message through. No cards.

Put Strychnine in Their'n.

Anna Fleming is a little kinky-headed negro girl, quite small, but it seems that her bump of wickedness is already fully developed. She was brought in and jailed yesterday from Cedar Fork township, this county, having been committed by Justice Weatherspoon upon the charge of attempting to poison the family of Mr. Sid. Scott, of that township. She put strychnine in the coffee. It having been thought best to keep coffee out of her way (or her out of the way of coffee) she will spend the spring season in the county bunking house, where they don't have any coffee. We understand she has "blowed on" and implicated others who will be duly arrested, &c. She ought to go to Russia and practice the ways of nihilists.

Accident.

Yesterday afternoon as the different fire companies were hurrying to the scene of action, one of the hose reels ran over little Alex., son of W. C. Stronach, Esq. It was at first thought that he was fatally hurt, and, indeed, it seems a miracle that he was not instantly killed, but fortunately, and we are happy to state, his injuries, while painful, are not very serious.

The reel will weigh from 800 to 1,000 pounds, and both wheels passed over Alex's body. One across his chest and neck. His arm was not broken as reported.

We cannot think that any of the men who were drawing the reel would have done other than exercised every thought and action to prevent this accident. We are truly glad to record the fact that the boy was resting easy last night. Alex is ten years old.

One of the Growing Industries.

A NEWS reporter recently by accident found himself at the wagon manufactory of Julius Lewis & Co., in the eastern portion of the city, the extensive hardware dealers, in Fisher Building, this city. In a conversation with the polite foreman of the works, Mr. W. H. Holloway, we learned that since last September, when the firm concluded to go extensively into the wagon business, that they had built and sold one hundred and fouty-six (146) wagons, carts and buggies. The demand being principally for one horse wagons. Their wagons have been shipped to every county in the State, and they have recently had orders from other States. Truly this is an enterprise deserving encouragement, and is a move in the right direction. Heretofore perhaps three fourths of the wagons used in the State have come from other States. This manufactory is situated on East Hargett street, just at the corner of the old city cemetery. Every purchaser of vehicles should visit this establishment before giving his orders to Northern houses; a trial will convince you that it is to your interest, as well as theirs, to patronize them.

Rescue to the Front.

At 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon the roof to the residence of Mr. Cram, of the firm of Allen & Cram, on McDowell street, was discovered to be on fire. It caught from sparks flying from the foundry flue, but was extinguished by the hands in the establishment, and a few of the neighbors. Had it been in the night, especially if at a late hour, when the fire broke out, several houses would have been destroyed. It is rather dangerous to live too near a foundry anyway

In one minute and a half from the first cries of alarm and in no time from the sounding of the general alarm from Metropolitan hall bell, the Rescue steam engine, No. 1, was seen "b lit" down Cabarrus street with the horses in a run. It passed by the fire on up to the Cottage hotel cistern and had run their hose reel half way to the fire (when they stopped, seeing the fire was under control) before either of the other companies reached the neighborhood, and before twenty-five people had assembled upon the scene.

Great credit is due this company for the agility thus shown. The Phœnix and Victor companies were side by side and both made good time, but the extraordinary time made by the Rescue deserves more than a passing notice. All three of these organizations are composed of good material, as the H. & L. and R. & L. companies, and Raleigh has cause to be proud of her fire department.

Wake Superior Court.

Court met at 10 o'clock yesterday, Judge J. C. L. Gudger presiding. The following cases were tried:

State vs J. A Smith, larceny and receiving; juror withdrawn; mistrial.

State vs. Americus Cooper, larceny and receiving; guilty; judgment reserved.

Citizens' Bank vs. N R Jones; judgment for plaintiff.

Gulley vs. Macy. Pending taking of testimony in last named case the court adjourned 'til this morning at 10 o'clock.

Supreme Court.

Court opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. All the justices were present.

The considerations of appeals from the seventh judicial district was resumed, and causes were disposed of as follows:

Commissioners of Wilkes county vs Esley Staley, from Wilkes; argued by L. L. Witherspoon for the plaintiff and B. B. Lewis for the defendant.

Tobias Kesler vs Isaac S. Linker, from Rowan; argued by J. S. Henderson and Watson & Glenn for the plaintiff, and J. M. McCorkle, L. L. Witherspoon and W. H. Bailey for the defendant.

Thomas W. Carter vs J. W. Duncan, from Alleghany; set for hearing at the end of the district for want of counsel.

E. Belo vs Commissioners of Forsyth county, from Forsyth; argued by J. C. Buxton for the plaintiff, and Watson & Glenn for the defendants.

John Miller et alf vs Leonard Feezer et als, from Davidson; argued by J. M. McCorkle for the plaintiffs, and J. M. Clement, Hinsdale and Devereux and W. H. Bailey for the defendants.

Court adjourned, until 10 o'clock this (Thursday) morning, when the consideration of appeals from the Seventh Judicial District will be resumed.

Supreme Court Decisions.

James McDonald et al vs Cannons, Fetzer & Co.

The Superior Court has jurisdiction of actions in the nature of trover, classed among the actions ex delicto, where the value of the property wrongfully converted exceeds fifty dollars.

B P Buxton vs. the Board of Commissioners of Rutherford county, from Rutherford.

1. The salary of the judges, under article 4, section 24, of the constitution, is the compensation allowed them by law, and includes the amount allowed for holding special terms.

2. Under section 18 of the act of 1879, chapter 240, section 4, does not go into effect so as to repeal the act of 1868, chapter 46, section 6, as to judges who were in office when the act of 1779 was passed.

3. If section 4 of said act was intended to apply to the salary of judges in office when it was passed, it would be in conflict with that section of the constitution which prohibits the Legislature from reducing the salary of the judges dring their continuance in office. Reversed.

THE NEW FRYER

This useful invention meets a long-felt need for a more convenient method of removing Oysters, Potatoes, and other fried food, with greater quickness, and all at once, from the boiling fat in which they have been cooked, and allowing the fat to drain from them while they remain over the fire; thereby getting rid more certainly of the unwholesome grease, the objection so often made of the unhealthiness of food cooked in the ordinary frying-pan is done away with.

By detaching the supporter, you have for omelettes and other things for which a drainer is not required, a deeper and better quality of frying-pan than has heretofore been made.
